The 3D Leadership Conference is an educational program aimed at educating students of any standing in leadership skills, empowers them to become involved in organizations on campus as well as the community and encourages social responsibility.

The conference will include a variety of workshops covering the theme of social responsibility, what is leadership, leadership styles and how to take an active role in creating positive social change.

Jeffery Johnson, social activist, African Methodist Episcopal minister, leadership trainer, and public speaker will address this year's theme during his keynote session at 12 p.m., which will be free, and open to the general public.

Jeffery Johnson is host of BET's "The Jeff Johnson Chronicles", a show where Jeff engages various socio-political issues; he is currently working to increase the nation's young voter turn out through a project called "America Votes Young Voter Project."

Seats are limited, so register now at www.dsa.csupomona.edu/division/leadership/3dregistration.asp or stop by the Office of Student Life and Cultural Centers for a form. Lunch is free with registration!

For more information about the 3D Leadership Conference, contact Dora Lee, senior coordinator at the Office of Student life and Culture Centers at (909) 869-3601 or e-mail at doralee@csupomona.edu.
