Kid's University Begins in June

The Cal Poly Pomona Children's Center is offering a new summer enrichment program. Kid's University is for children from five to ten years old. Children attending the program will be part of a stimulating educational environment with guidance from the Center's credentialed teaching staff.

The program will provide safe learning experiences that will cultivate student development in the areas of art, music, language development, math, science, and computers. Curricular activities offered will be swimming, with trained lifeguards on duty, volleyball, soccer, on-campus fieldtrips, movies, a sleepover on the Children's Center lawn, and much more. Each day participants will receive two nutritional snacks and a bag lunch.

Up to 20 students will be accepted into Kid's University. Space is limited. Interested on-campus parents will receive first priority; faculty and staff second priority; and third priority will be offered to the off-campus community.

The Children's Center is located on the Cal Poly Pomona campus and is a non-profit organization operated and subsidized by Associated Students Inc. in partnership with the Division of Student Affairs.

Kid's University will begin June 23 and end on September 5, 2003. The program will run Monday through Friday between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Participants will be assessed a weekly fee of only $125.00. For enrollment information, please contact Helen Hinton of the Cal Poly Pomona Children's Center at (909) 869-4785.
